Idea

- In the past decades, the societies of Europe have come closer together. But what do people know from each other? How to foster peace in times of war and crisis - by the people, by the citizens?
- Knowledge of history opens the door to understanding. Europe's history is rich of upheavals and new beginnings. The focus of the project group is on transformations in the past and lessons for Europe's future.
- The project group develops a learning platform on various transformation processes.
- Approach: multi-perspective; European, empowering competencies, micro and macro perspectives

Aims

Target groups

- EMPOWERING adult educators to include history topics in their work.
- EMPOWERING citizens to engage with reflecting history.
- Dialogue, multiperspectivity, European dimension

I. ADULT EDUCATORS

II. CITIZENS

of different ages, incomes, qualification levels, cultural backgrounds and social milieus
